

A QUICK GUIDE TO OFFSIDE AND ICING

Offside occurs when a member of the attacking team crosses over the defending team's blue line, before the puck. The position of the player's skate - and not that of his stick - is the determining factor. If both skates are over the blueline before the puck, the player is offside. If he has only one skate over the blueline and one on it, he is onside.

Icing is when the defending team shoots the puck down the ice across two red lines (the red centre line and the goal line), without it touching another player. Icing is not permitted when teams are at equal strength or on the power play. When this occurs the game is stopped and a face-off takes place in the defending teams zone.

Icing the puck is not called:

If the goalie leaves the crease to play the puck, even if he does not touch the puck.

If an official rules an opposing player could have played the puck before it crossed the red goal line.

An official may waive off the icing call if he deems it was an attempted pass.
